Our Principal Partner has been admitted as a Fellow of the Association of Legislative Drafters and Advocacy Practitioners in recognition of his work in legislative drafting.

Our Principal Partner, Sunusi Musa, SAN, has been admitted as a Fellow of the Association of Legislative Drafters and Advocacy Practitioners (ALDRAP).

Mr Musa is an alumnus of the Bureau of Parliamentary Studies and Training in India, where he obtained an international certification in legislative drafting, and he holds a master’s degree in Legislative Drafting from the University of Benin.

He has drafted a number of bills, including bills passed by the 9th Senate during its review of the 1999 Constitution. At the time of the award he was serving as a consultant to the 10th Senate Committee on the Review of the 1999 Constitution, chaired by Senator Barau I. Jibrin.

The fellowship reflects the firm’s continuing work on the quality of legislation and on advocacy, and we look forward to building on it in our work for legislatures, ministries and agencies.
